This is the AFA and your Central Florida Chapter in action!

The 23rd annual Sun 'n Fun Aerospace Educators' Workshop was held on Saturday, April 17 on the Sun 'n Fun campus, located at the Lakeland Airport. About 150 teachers and others who share aviation education with young people attended. The ROTC color guard from Dr. Phillips High School presented the colors and

From the President

As you will see later in the newsletter, the Central Florida Chapter is highly recognized at both the State and National levels with Chapter and Individual awards. Our Chapter Awards are due to the exceptional efforts of many chapter members. Thank you for allowing me to lead this wonderful organization for another year.

As I begin my second term as President of the Central Florida Chapter, I need to reflect on the goals I set last year. First, I set a personal goal to speak to one local civic group each quarter. My plan was to talk a little about the AFA mission and how our chapter supports the mission. This has proven more difficult than anticipated, mainly due to my schedule as a full time teacher. I hope to do more this coming year. Second, I wanted to search for better ways to support our active duty members, and especially their dependents. This past year, I have reached out to the Air Force Modeling and Simulation Agency (AFAMS), who are located near UCF, and include both active duty and contract civilians. We hope to establish an awards program for AFAMS later this year. Third, I would like to encourage more active participation in chapter events. This past year, we had several chapter members volunteer to present awards to AFJROTC and CAP units throughout the region and support membership events, such as done at the Sun 'n Fun Fly In. We are always looking for the assistance of others throughout the Central Florida region.

Please read the articles "Up in the Air" (page 4) and "Need for a New Tanker" (page 8). The US Air Force needs your strong support! You too can volunteer to be an Air Power Advocate (APA) for the Air Force Association. It can be done completely from home and you will be provided assistance from AFA HQ (and our chapter) on how to do this. Please contact me if you are interested.

Let me end by reminding everyone that November 2nd is the mid-term election date and I hope you support the candidate of your choice. I will caution, however, that AFA is a non-profit organization, and therefore, members cannot support any candidate by saying you represent an AFA position. Please support the candidate of your choice, however, as a responsible citizen.

Hope to see you at our upcoming chapter events including both the Awards and Installation Luncheon and the December Holiday Dinner.

Bill Yucuis

Up In the Air

Adapted from an article by Michael M. Dunn, President/CEO, Air Force Association

It has been a hot summer...

This past month, one of Headquarters AFA's staff members, let's call him Joe, was without air conditioning (A/C) in his home and this month has been hot ... very hot! For the entire month, most days were over 90 degrees.

Joe's experience is similar to what our country faces right now ... and the US Air Force may face a similar challenge in the future. Let me describe what happened to Joe...

Joe's A/C stopped working. In essence, he had no Air (power). First, he called an A/C expert to his house to see what was wrong. The expert told Joe that he needed some parts for the system. The parts would take some time to come in as the system was over 21 years old. And, as it turned out, almost no one was making parts anymore for such an old system.

Joe went to his insurance company to see if they would let him retire the old system and replace it with a newer, more capable one. (Sound familiar?) The insurer (think Congress) decided the system still had some uses, and it would be cheaper and better if they tried to get the parts to fix it.

Meanwhile, the A/C expert went to the web to try to find parts which might do the job. Lots of parts

• were found; many from overseas suppliers ... but when
• the unit was opened and the technical order reviewed, the
• original manufacturer clearly stated that parts had to be
• made by either ... the original manufacturer ... or an
• approved sub-manufacturer. And ... the original manu• facturer no longer made parts for the system.

• Finally, parts were located ... but, in all it took
• almost four weeks to get the system operational.

Sadly - Joe's story is true!

Now think about the US Air Force...

• We are dealing with planes, some of which are
• almost 50 years old! The US Air Force manages a fleet
• that on average is OLDER than Joe's air conditioner! But
• there's a difference here. Nobody died from the heat. The
• ground forces were not attacked and harassed from the
• air. Our troops on the ground were supported. Intelli-
• gence Surveillance and Reconnaissance (ISR) was pro-
• vided. Space assets provided navigation, communica-
• tions, and intelligence.

• We should worry about what might happen in the
• future when our Air (power), and the parts needed to fix
• it, are even older and harder to get.

For an example, see

"Need for A New Tanker" on page 9.

New Officers... New Opportunities

by Richard A. Ortega, VP Aerospace Education

UCF's AFROTC commissioning programs continue to open the door for great new opportunities of AF careers. Nineteen new second lieutenants were recently commissioned at UCF.

Your Central Florida Chapter contributes to scholarship and educational opportunities to help "our" ROTC program be the best! In addition, the Central Florida Chapter provided each of the newly commissioned officers a three-year complimentary membership to AFA. We also provided each with a Second Lieutenant starter kit consisting of Gold Bars, the USAF Training Ribbon, and a hat insignia.

We want to send them off in style!

Bill Yucuis, President of the Central Florida Chapter, congratulates Second Lieutenants Jared M. Rutkovitz on his right and Hank G. Goldsmith who were commissioned as Distinguished Graduates

We Salute Our Veterans

by Dennis Moran, VP Veteran Affairs

Retired Activities Office Helps Veterans And Spouses

The Retired Activities Office is normally manned Monday through Friday from 10am to 2pm by military retirees familiar with common questions and processing. The office is located in the old DFAS building which is now known as the Lakemont Campus of the Dept of Veterans Affairs near the VA Medical Center. Call for directions or to ask questions over the phone. Phone number for the office is 407-646-4204 or 407-646-4262.

Navy Exchange Store Open to Serve

The Navy Exchange (NEX) facility is located just west of the Orlando Int'l Airport off Tradeport Road and has been servicing eligible veterans from that new location for over 10 years.

The NEX provides a wide variety of both food and retail items and remains open for the shoppers seven days per week. The NEX also offers a barber shop, optical, deli and attraction tickets. Call 407-857-3550 for more details.

Veterans Day Parade in Orlando

Reminder to all that the City of Orlando sponsors an annual Veterans Day Parade in downtown Orlando. This year the parade is on Saturday, Nov 13th, starting at 11AM. The parade has been a huge success due to the some 80 entries and held at a time when parking is available near some great viewing locations. The Central Florida Chapter has had an entry since the day the parade started over 10 years ago. Plan to attend---seniors and kids love it.

Ms. Terri Finger Honored by AFA

The Air Force Association/Florida has selected Ms. Terri Finger as our 2010 Congressional Staffer of the Year. This is an annual selection to recognize the one person in the State who has noticeably and successfully worked to assist area military, veterans and spouses with problems that can be resolved by the Congressional offices. Terri has worked for many years in Central Florida and currently works on the staff of Representative Suzanne Kosmas of District 24.

OYAC Flying High

by Richard A. Ortega, VP Aerospace Education

The Orlando Youth Aviation Center (OYAC) is flying high and introducing many students to aviation. OYAC was initially developed by Barbara Walters-Phillips in 1990.

Through the years, many aviation professionals, including AFA Chapter members, have inspired hundreds of students to pursue careers in commercial and military aviation.

AFA's Central Florida Chapter continues to reach out to provide Aerospace Education through many different venues. We hope you will join them!

Our youth of today are tomorrow's leaders!

AE Workshops

the group was welcomed by Bill Eickhoff, Chairman of the Board for Sun 'n Fun as well as John Burton, President of the Fly In. The opening speaker was Wes Norton, a missionary pilot who spoke about his flights in a DC-3 carrying supplies to the people of Haiti. Another keynote speaker was Bob Richards, retired air traffic controller and author of the book Secrets From the Tower, who entertained us with many stories of his years as a controller at Chicago's O'Hare Airport.

Central Florida Chapter at AFA Information and Membership booth at Sun 'n Fun

CFC is an official sponsor of the Aerospace Education workshops so President Bill Yucuis (pictured to left) welcomed participants and presented the Chapter check to help fund these great presentations to the teachers who attended.

The teachers attended a variety of concurrent sessions including "Where Imagination Takes Flight" presented by the Civil Air Patrol and "Building Gyzmos" presented by Dr. Charley Rodriguez from Southern Illinois University. The teachers enjoyed hands on sessions and took many ideas back to their classrooms to share with students.

We are looking forward to next year's workshop and hope you will join us!

A Dream Come True

by Richard A. Ortega, VP Aerospace Education

Lt Danny Chung received the spot light as family, friends and the UCF AFROTC Det 159 assembled for Danny's commissioning ceremony.

Lt Chung is among the many graduates from Det 159 who are on their way into the best Air Force in the world.

CMSGT Richard Ortega was on hand to present Lt Chung with a three year complimentary membership to AFA and provide Lt. Chung with a great start to his professional career in the Air Force.

We wish Lt Chung, and other Det 159 graduates, the best in their future career.

Membership News

by Bill Palmby, Membership Chairman

Central Florida Chapter's Membership team has been busy during the past several months working to keep the chapter's membership rolls strong. In addition to two all-day membership drives at the 2010 Sun 'n Fun International Fly-In and at the Civil Air Patrol's State Convention, we are planning a membership drive at the Orlando Navy Exchange this coming October.

Please assist our team...

While these are all great venues to get the word out about all that the Central Florida Chapter has to offer, our best membership advocate has been, and always will be, you!

"Our best recruiter is you!"

To help keep our organization strong, each and every one of us should always be on the lookout for new members. The prospect list is rich: newly retired Air Force members, recently separated veterans, families of Air Force members, and just about any citizen concerned with a strong national defense.

Help them join...

When you find a candidate, there are some easy ways to help them join our great organization. Besides sharing what great things we do -- give them an application and ask them to complete it. Copies of the AFA application are available:

Printed — There is one in every FlightLiner (see to the right). Cut it out and give it to a friend.

Online — Go to www.centralflorida.afaflorida.org and click on the "Join Now" link down the left side.

Phone / Email — Contact the membership chairman (Bill Palmby) to complete an application. Call 407-404-2089 or Email: palmbyb@aol.com.

Insights to Consider...

New Tanker Needed!

by Bill Yucuis, Chapter President

During the Eisenhower administration, we built a fleet of KC-135 tankers. They have proven to be among the nation's best investments in history. This capability to go anywhere in the world at any time made this country a world power. We have depended on this capability at the most critical times responding to disasters and wars around the world.

The KC-135 aircraft currently flying were built between 1958 and 1964. This is an average age of 49 years!! It is amazing that after a half-century, at increasing cost, these same planes are still flying. That's an incredible testament to the Airmen who maintain them, as well as to the builders and designers. But they are long past their designed expectation for flight miles, and we're working them harder than ever with the constant demands over the skies of Afghanistan and Iraq.

What if, during an accident investigation, the entire fleet of KC-135s were grounded while the causes, material failures, etc. are examined. This has happened to the aging F-15 fleet more than once in recent years. If the fleet of tankers is ever grounded, even for a short time, U.S. operations of any distance grind to a halt. The consequences would be immense to both global mobility and air dominance.

Congress and the Administration must realize the absolute necessity of producing a new tanker in adequate numbers. All of the older KC-135 tankers will eventually have to go. That's not an opinion. Maintenance costs and man-hours are spiking on the KC-135s. It's just a matter of time before many become useless or dangerous to the Airmen assigned to them. That is not a situation the United States can afford to let develop. A new tanker has been the Air Force's number one priority for years now. Without rehashing every start and stop in this cumbersome process, the contract for the next tanker, dubbed KC-X for now, is in the bidding process.

Our superior fighter aircraft only matter if they can be fueled en route to the point of need. Every aspect of the fleet's ability to project power globally depends on getting fuel into aircraft. Also, the Navy and USMC depend on the Air Force tanker fleet for their aircraft refueling. The Air Force plan is fairly straightforward: replace the oldest, least serviceable tankers first, hopefully at a rate of some 12-18 per year. Even in this best case scenario, many of the newest model KC-135s will be in the air for many decades to come, some eventually as many as 90 years or more after the first one was rolled out in the Eisenhower administration.

Regardless of administrative or legal decisions, the first new tanker will not be rolling out until 2015 –

USAF KC-135 aircraft - Originally purchased during the Eisenhower Administration. Many are still flying today!

"Built between 1958 and 1964... these same planes are still flying."

that is if the present program is followed.

We need to get moving! We depend on these aircraft to facilitate putting the rest of our planes in the skies. As a former Chief of Staff of the Air Force put it: "The pilot of the last KC-135 has yet to be born. Heck, the Mother of the pilot of the last KC-135 has yet to be born."

We can do better!

Leading to the future...

Mike Dunn, AFA President, provides a wealth of accurate, current information about many Air Force issues, including the tanker issue. Mike's comments in "Up in the Air" (page 4) and this article, about "New Tanker Needed", point to real requirements.

AFA unequivocally advocates the rapid acquisition of a new tanker fleet to replace the ancient birds we're presently asking our pilots to fly.

It will soon be a safety issue for our pilots as these aircraft further age beyond their useful capacity.

AFA CFC Chapter President, Bill Yucuis, welcomes you to join him as an "Air Power Advocate" (APA).

Looking ahead...

by Bill Yucuis, Chapter President

Your Chapter is planning ahead for our annual Holiday Dinner! Please "save the date" of Saturday night, December 11th.

Final details are not available at this time but, we currently plan to hold the Holiday Dinner at the Rosen Centre Hotel on International Drive, which is "near" the Convention Center. It is an outstanding venue. We already have a commitment from the nationally recognized West Orange High School Chorale group to sing at our event.

Once details are finalized, we will put the information on the Chapter website. If you do not have Internet access, you may contact me personally and I will notify you either via Email or by letter.

*Hope to see you
